Exhibition runs 8 March – 19 April 2013

Grounded, presented by Adelaide Central Gallery and Fisher Jeffries, includes the work of four graduates of Adelaide Central School of Art: Nic Brown, Cathy Frawley, Sally Parnis and Lyn Wood.

These four artists are drawn to the landscape. Their approach to the subject could be described as immersive, and the products of their engagement are both different from, and harmonious with, each other. Landscape becomes not so much a subject for their work as a site for exploration. Each artist translates her lived experience for the viewer. Each in her different way weaves the complex relationship between mind, body and the environment and creates portals for the viewer to share a new experience of what landscape might signify, whether that be home, journey, sensation, poetic space, site for transcendence, or part of a shifting reality.

Grounded will open Friday 8 March from 6-8pm by Amanda Pepe, CEO, Helpmann Academy and will be held at Fisher Jeffries, Level 1, 19 Gouger Street, Adelaide.
