Join us on our creative journey...

Adelaide Central School of Art has moved to the Glenside Cultural Precinct.

After years of planning, stage one has been completed! We worked with an award winning team of architects, engineers and builders to refurbish two iconic heritage buildings to create superior teaching and studio facilities for our students.

The South Australian Government granted the School a 50-year lease on two iconic heritage buildings, providing the first permanent home for the School in its 31 years of operation.

The new School campus is right next door to Adelaide Film Studios, home of the South Australian Film Corporation and related creative enterprises, in a vibrant arts and learning community. Already, some of our graduates have seized cross-media opportunities and are employed on associated film projects.

As well as providing new opportunities for our degree programs and students, improved facilities enable us to expand on our secondary schools outreach program, and extend community access through our public programs such as short courses, masterclasses and workshops. Adelaide Central Gallery also has a new home with us, as does Central Artist Supplies … all set on beautiful grounds, conducive to en plein air painting and outdoor sculpture installation, with improved studio, teaching and reference facilities purpose-designed to suit our needs, now and into the future.

We invite you to take a tour of our new facilities. Please contact Andrew on 08 8299 7300 for more information or to make a booking.

Our move to the Glenside Cultural Precinct is key to building on our reputation as the school of choice for future practising artists.

The School has Tax Deductible Gift Recipient Status. All donations made to the Adelaide Central School of Art Gift Fund are tax deductible. Our Sponsorship packages include naming rights for prominent areas in the School. For further information, please contact the CEO. Donors will be acknowledged prominently in the foyer of the Teaching and Studio Building, and on our website.

We invite you to invest in the future of South Australia’s only independent art school.

As a not-for-profit incorporated association, Adelaide Central School of Art does not receive state or federal Funding. Your donation will contribute to the fit-out of the Teaching and Studio Building, including teaching resources, library resources, common room and courtyard furniture, the Adelaide Central Gallery and the Outreach Program.

Student Studios

More space, more interaction

The Studios for 36 students are spacious, with ample natural light and vistas over the campus. Private and secure, with special purpose storage and wet areas adjacent, each studio is designed to provide an environment conducive to creative output. BVA (Hons) students will have their own dedicated studio, and final year students will share a studio with one other. The location and grouping of the studios on each level will encourage a collegiate environment, strategic for ongoing critical discussion and evaluation.

A tax-deductible donation of $5,000 will provide the donor with studio naming rights for 5 years.

A limited number of artist studios available for rent.

Please contact the School on 08 8299 7300 for more information.

Library

More books, better access

The new Library will focus on quality reference books, monographs, journals and audio-visual material to make it a leading arts resource for South Australia. To date, the lending capacity of the Library has been limited due to staffing and equipment. The new campus will provide the opportunity to expand our service with full borrowing facilities including an RFID (radio frequency identification) system. We are dedicated to increasing art resources for our students, and actively source reference material from the private libraries of prominent curators and historians. The new Library will hold the academic library of curator Terence Maloon, generously donated to the School in 2011.

A tax-deductible donation will support the development and resourcing of the Library.

Adelaide Central Gallery

More exhibitions, better lighting

As well as a highly esteemed public gallery, Adelaide Central Gallery is an essential component of our educational program, and offers many emerging artists their first entry into the world of professional practice.

A tax-deductible donation of $1,000 will support the Gallery and will be acknowledged on the donor board.
